ONE: Check StudyDesk

Check your StudyDesk

The first place to look for readings is your StudyDesk!

- Course activity
- Resources
- Useful links: Course readings - DiReCt

are good places to start.

TWO: Check 'Course Texts' in Library Search

Check in 'Course Texts' in Library Search

The second place to look for readings is in Course Texts in Library Search on the Library homepage. Type your course code into the search box and select the Course Texts option from the drop-down menu. Click the magnifying glass icon to search. Your readings should appear under the search box.

1. Type your course code into the search box

2. Select 'Course Texts' from the dropdown list

3. Click to search

Your readings will be displayed here

THREE: Search the Library collection

Search the Library Collection

The third place to look for readings is the Library collection

Type the title of your reading into the Library Search box. If it is a common title ('health,' 'management,' 'engineering' etc.) you should add the author's family name. Select Everything from the search drop-down. Then click the magnifying glass icon to search. Your reading should appear under the search box.

The screenshot shows a library search interface with the following elements and instructions:

- 1. Type the title into the search box . Add the author's name if it is a common title: Points to the search input field containing the text "Yatdjuligin Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander nursing and midwifery care".
- 2. Select 'Everything' from the dropdown list: Points to the dropdown menu showing "Everything".
- 3. Click to search: Points to the magnifying glass icon.
- Your reading will appear here: Points to the search results section.

The search results section displays:

- 6 Results
- 1 (result number)
- BOOK (category)
- Yatdjuligin : Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander nursing and midwifery care (title)
- Best, Odette, editor.; Fredericks, Bronwyn, editor. (authors)

- Available at Toowoomba Library Main Collection (610.730899915 Yat) and other locations > (availability)

What if I can't find my readings?

Yes, some things can be harder to find!

Many book chapters, conference papers and journal articles can be found by searching the Library collection as described in step three. However, sometimes you will need to find the book, conference proceedings or journal that contains the reading you need and search the table of contents to find that reading.

Help is available at the library or you may like to follow these broad steps.

Let's say we have been asked to read the article: Clark-Sayles, C. (2008). Goats. Journal of General Internal Medicine. 23(1) p. 110.

A search for 'Goats' leads to too many results. So I decide to search via the journal.

1. Find the Journal of General Internal Medicine
2. Follow the links to the journal homepage
3. Scroll down to find the items published in 2008

4. Click on Volume 23, Issue 1

5. Scroll down to find the article 'Goats' by Catharine Clark-Sayles

1. Type the name of the journal and click the search icon

The screenshot shows a search interface with a search bar at the top containing the text "journal of general internal medicine". To the right of the search bar is a magnifying glass icon. Below the search bar is an orange banner with the text "Sign in to get complete results and to request items" and a "Sign in" button. Below the banner, it says "PAGE 1 57,639 Results". The first result is for the "JOURNAL of general internal medicine (Online)", published by the "Society of General Internal Medicine" in 1986. It is marked as "PEER REVIEWED" and "Available Online". To the right of the journal title are icons for document, email, bookmark, and a menu. A teal arrow points from the instruction box to the search bar, and another points to the magnifying glass icon.

2. Select the database that holds the journal

The screenshot shows a "View Online" section. It lists "PubMed Central" as the database. Below this, it states "Available from 1997 volume: 12" and "Most recent 1 year(s) not available". A teal arrow points from the instruction box to the "PubMed Central" text. A small icon in the bottom right corner of the section indicates a link to the full text.

3. Scroll to the year the article was published

4. Click the Volume/Issue
